WELCOME TO KINGHORN

Being one of the first Royal Burghs in Scotland, Kinghorn has a strong foothold in Scottish history. It may be small in size and population but for centuries the Royal Burgh of Kinghorn punched well above its weight in the politics and influence of Scotland. As part of the Earldom of Strathmore and Kinghorne, our Provost attended the wedding of Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon to the Duke of York, the future King George VI, in 1923. While I mention our history, you should research the name Baldred Bisset and see how his arguments influenced the Pope, the Declaration of Arbroath and, therefore, the Declaration of Independence in the USA.

Where else can boast a famous golf course, two beautiful beaches, fabulous views to the coastline of Edinburgh and the Lothians, its own loch and the many walking routes and trails which are like a web in and around the village? Situated on the main east coast rail line, there are links from Kinghorn to all 'airts n pairts' north and south. Forty minutes to Edinburgh and its world famous festivals and an hour or so northwards places you in the heart of Perthshire, two hours places you in the Cairngorms or the Lomond National Parks. How lucky are we?

There is an energy in Kinghorn – it's a vibrant community which boasts so many volunteering groups and clubs that nobody should ever claim to be bored. There are more things to do than there are days of the week and hours of the day. Its people are friendly and they care. Take your time and read through this booklet which gives you an insight into this Royal Burgh, a place which we are lucky and privileged to call "home".

KINGHORN A ROYAL HISTORY

Kinghorn, and its subsidiary Pettycur to the west, sit nestled in a prime spot on the Fife Coastal Path, the two separated by a headland projecting into the Firth of Forth. This site affords the area beautiful panoramic views across the Forth – from Berwick Law and the North Sea eastwards, to Edinburgh Castle and Leith in the west.

The area has a rich and varied history going back to the 12th century and further. The town's fortunes have ebbed and flowed during that period, in tandem with the twin tides of royalty and industry. It is often thought that the name Kinghorn is derived from this royal past. However, the name actually comes from the Scottish Gaelic Caenn Gronne, which means 'head of the marsh', referencing the aforementioned headland.

Our story begins in the 12th century, where we know that Kinghorn was home to a castle and a church. Kinghorn Castle was the property of the Scottish Crown, and was frequented by King Alexander III in the 13th century. The parish church was consecrated in 1243 by the Bishop of St. Andrews, and by the end of the century Kinghorn had become an important religious centre. It is amazing to think that the King of Scotland almost certainly worshipped at this site.

The town's royal credentials were firmly established in 1285 when Alexander III granted it royal burgh status, although the charter infers that

Alexander I

Alexander III Memorial

Strathmore and Kinghorne

Kinghorn may have already possessed this status prior to this date. Our Kirk by the Sea stands next to ruins of the original church building. Kinghorn Castle remained an important asset of the Scottish crown, and this was recognised by the creation of the Earldome of Kinghorne in 1606, which would later become Strathmore and Kinghorne. No remains of the castle remain however, with the site having been built over.

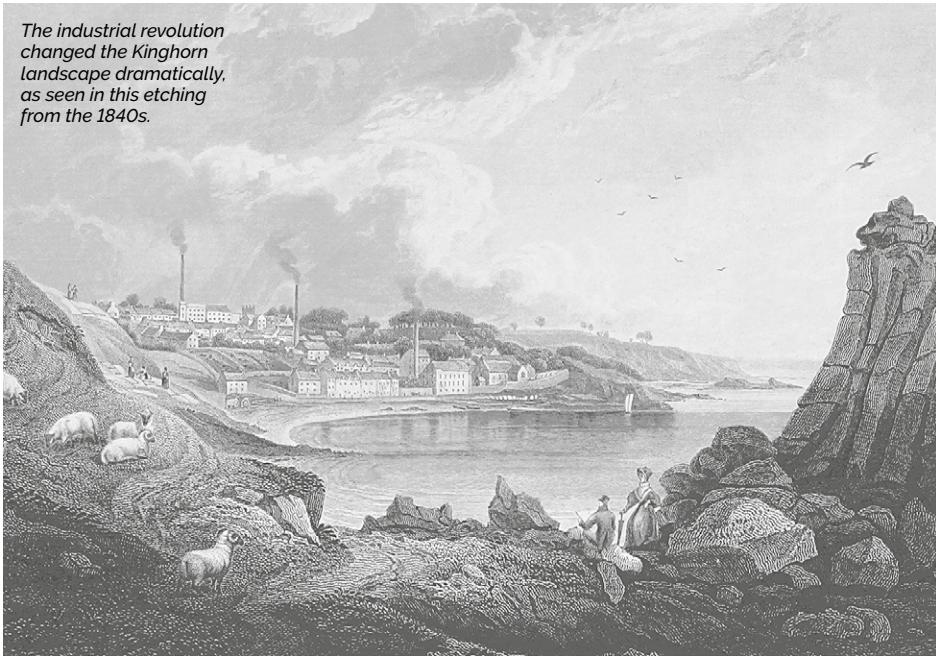

Sadly, King Alexander III's story ends in tragedy. On 19th March 1286, Alexander – then 44 – was returning to Kinghorn on horseback from a meeting with his council in Edinburgh to be with his young wife, Yolande. Despite pleas from his advisors, the King and his party rode through the night in bad weather, only to go missing. His body was found on the beach the following morning. It is believed that he fell to his death from the cliffs west of Pettycur.

A memorial on the main Kinghorn to Burntisland road (A921) marks the spot he is thought to have fallen from. The green-robed ghost of his young bride is said to roam this area and the surrounding Kingswood (named in his honour) searching for her beau. Alexander's untimely death led to a crisis of succession that ultimately led to the wars of independence with England. Who would have thought that Kinghorn and Pettycur would have played such a pivotal role in Scottish and British history?

As the area's royal fortunes waned, its strong location and geographical features led to new opportunities. Strong natural harbours at both ▶

► Kinghorn and Pettycur made ideal landing sites for the ferries from Leith, turning them into vital parts of the road north. This resulted in a boom for the area as local businesses exploited the passing trade. Milestones bearing the distance to Pettycur still sit at various sites along what was known as the 'Great Fife Road', testaments to the harbour's previous importance. The ferries eventually moved to the harbour at neighbouring Burntisland. However, for a time, Kinghorn and Pettycur were bustling with travellers and traders alike.

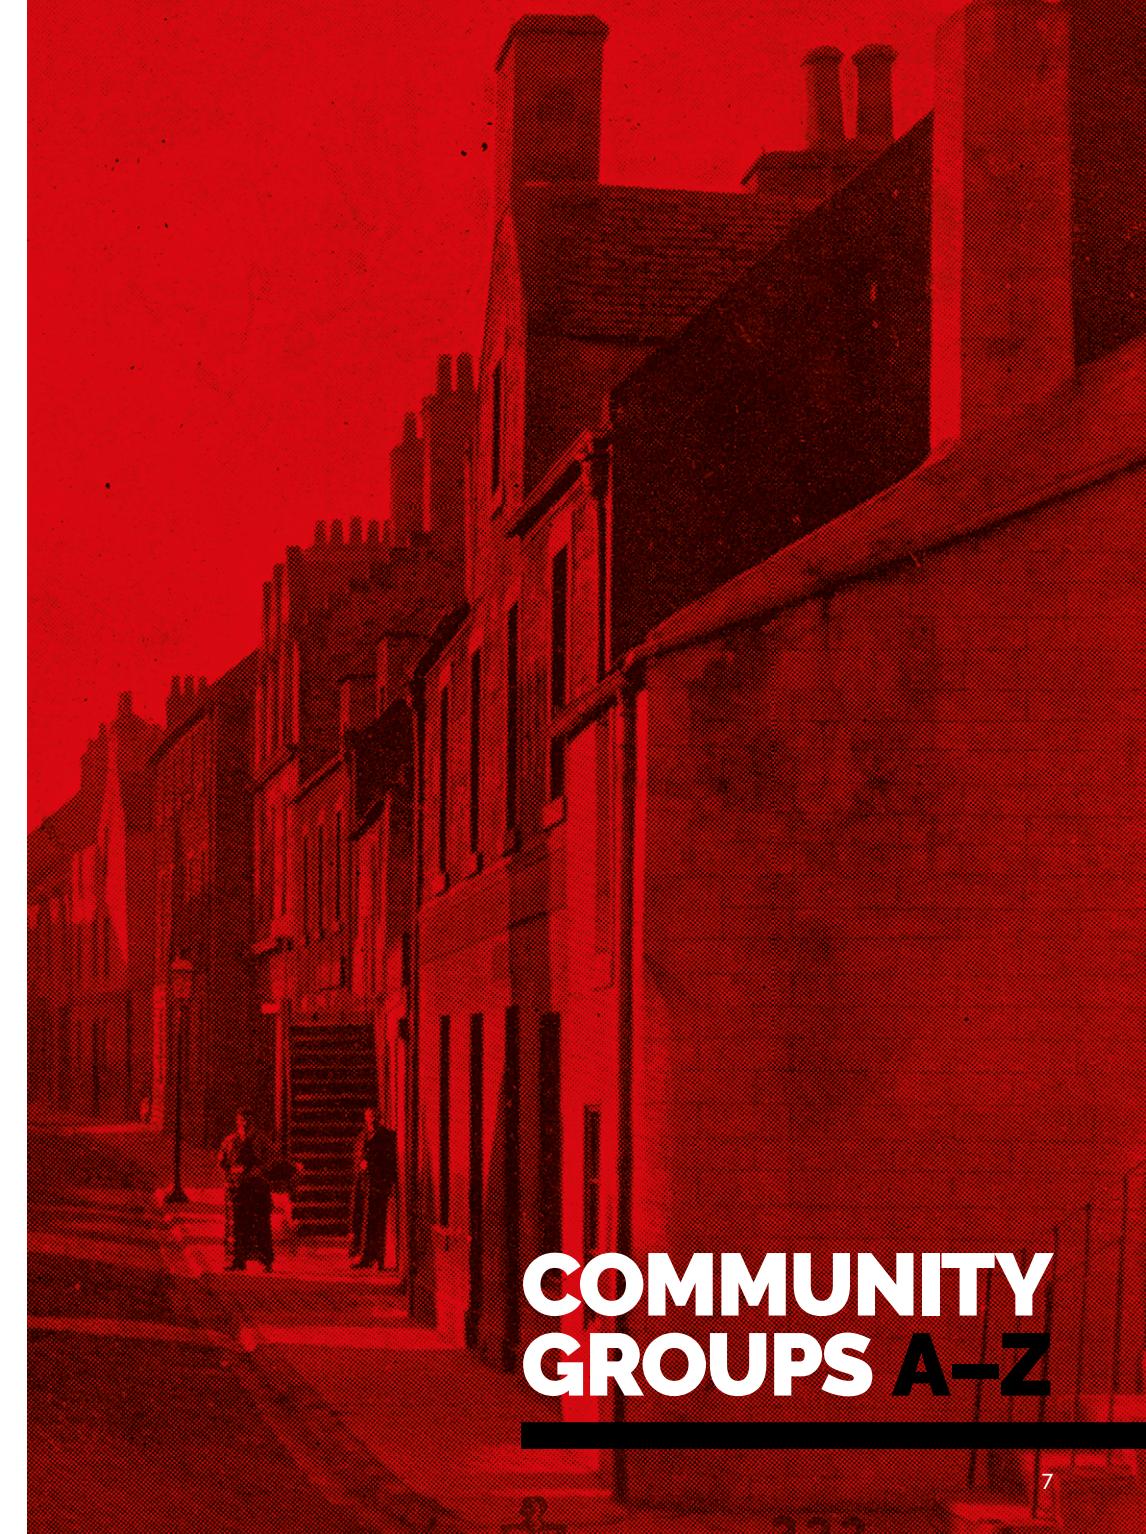

A burn from Kinghorn Loch once provided a source of power to sustain a thriving flax-milling industry. The burn can still be seen meandering through the village on its way to meet the Forth. Kinghorn's natural harbour also played host to shipbuilding, with a yard being established in the 1860s, on a site north of where the parish church now stands. The last shipyard closed in 1921.

As a historic royal burgh close to St. Andrews and Edinburgh, Kinghorn played an early role in the development and growth of golf. The present Kinghorn Golf Club was founded in the late 19th century, but the game was enjoyed on the links for some time before this, with some documents suggesting that it may even have been played here as long ago as 1608. A golf cleek works was established to manufacture golf clubs at the Eastgate by W. Gibson in 1902.

The area has supported many other industries since the industrial revolution, including tanning, bottle making and glue manufacture, amongst many others. As these industries declined, the town received a boost in 1846 with the construction of Kinghorn station and the railway viaduct over the Nethergate, as part of the Burntisland to Tayport line. This, together with the opening of the Forth Rail Bridge in 1890, transformed Kinghorn into a scenic beach resort and the popular holiday destination it continues to be to this day.

Today, Kinghorn may at first appear a sleepy commuter town, albeit with great views and amenities. Scratch below the surface though, and you will still find the remnants of a thousand years of history and more. Scratch a little deeper and you will find the independent businesses, artists & creators, community groups, and activities that make it such a rewarding place to live and visit. Read on to find out more. ■

ABK LADIES PROBUS

ABK Ladies Probus is a social club, meeting monthly at the Kingswood Hotel. Membership is open to any lady of 55 years and over, who is retired from main employment or who works part-time.

Having taken the name ABK (Aberdour, Burntisland, Kinghorn) from the existing men's group, our members are almost exclusively from Kinghorn and Burntisland. Starting in 2006 at 60, then 80, our membership finally stands at 100.

Guests may attend on three occasions per year. We meet on the third Wednesday of each month from September to June at 10AM for tea/coffee before, at 10.30AM, an invited speaker gives a talk or presentation. In June, for our AGM, and December we enjoy lunch at the hotel.

We organise theatre outings and trips, and also encourage members to hold small interest-groups (e.g. book groups). We offer fun and friendship – an opportunity for old friends to get together, or – equally importantly – for someone on her own or new to the area to meet others and make friends.

THE ECOLOGY CENTRE

The Ecology Centre is an inclusive, community-led charity inspiring positive change by directly connecting people and the natural environment for the benefit of both. It's a simple premise, but one that has been changing and influencing lives for 20 years!

The community-owned site is a haven for wildlife, plants and those who love them. The Centre welcomes over 5000 visitors annually through our education programme. We provide volunteering and training opportunities on our site, a garden and Tool Shed, and educational opportunities across a range of areas – all stimulating and all worthwhile.

The Centre is sited on community owned land and the team manage it to ensure it's a safe and inviting place for everyone to enjoy. There's lots for children to explore, including our mud kitchen where kids can make mud pies or camp out in the children's bird hide to spot the infamous Kingfisher.

There's plenty for adults too – take a journey around our Community Garden and poly-tunnel and see, smell and taste all the different fruits, vegetables and herbs growing, or enjoy a walk around the Loch.

There's lots of events on throughout the year – our Nest function room and outdoor sanctuary area make a wonderful venue for workshops, classes, conferences, parties or intimate wedding celebrations. Both have beautiful views overlooking Kinghorn Loch.

Like and follow us on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram or sign up to our newsletter via our website. For more information about us, our events or to book get in touch. ■

KINGHORN CHILDREN'S GALA

Kinghorn Children's Gala is a well established tradition which holds fond memories for many since its inception in 1933.

We are a registered charity run by a small committee of volunteers who work hard all year round to raise funds, allowing us to put on a fun-filled week of events for children and families in the first week of June. Budding artists compete to have their winning designs published on the gala programme and the annual badge. The Royal Party of Gala King and Queen (selected from Primary 7) and Attendants (selected from Primary 3) preside over the week following a crowning ceremony held at Kinghorn Parish Church.

The gala celebrations kick off with a Family Fun afternoon, which typically includes inflatables, magicians, clowns and animal experiences. A varied and fun programme of events takes place throughout the week culminating in the themed Gala Parade, an afternoon of sports and a family party night. The Halloween party is a chance for all the family to dress up and has been a sell-out success in recent years.

The Gala provides a great opportunity to get involved in our local community, meet new friends and help make special memories for many more children of the town. ■

KINGHORN COMMUNITY LAND ASSOCIATION

Kinghorn Community Land Association (KCLA) is a community group whose main aim is to provide environmental protection and improvement by acquiring and/or conserving land and land assets for the public benefit in the Kinghorn area.

In 2015 KCLA purchased ten acres of unused land beside Kinghorn Loch on behalf of the local community through Lottery funding, and in 2016 we established a community orchard which now has around 80 fruit trees. Since then, plans have been drawn up and planning permission granted to create a multi-faith and no-faith eco-cemetery & columbarium (a reliquary for the ashes of the deceased, which are stored within stone niches). Kinghorn community and its surrounding area has a need for burial space and to protect land from further developments, ensuring a balance between the natural and built environment.

The eco-cemetery aims to reduce the impact of burials on the environment. Instead of being a cemetery with formal paths, headstones and mown grass, burials will be within a wildflower meadow that's managed to look attractive and benefit wildlife. It will be an area of tranquillity and peaceful contemplation. We are now in the process of looking at raising the necessary funding to progress work on the site and would welcome support from everyone in Kinghorn. This is Kinghorn's project and we will involve everyone in making it a resource valued by the community for the community.

KINGHORN GOLF CLUB

The purpose of Kinghorn Golf Club is to promote and nurture the game of golf in the local community and beyond, together with the many social aspects that the game can bring to the Royal Burgh of Kinghorn.

Kinghorn Golf Club was originally founded in 1887, although there is strong evidence to suggest that golf was played on the Links of Kinghorn as early as 1812. At the time of going to print we have reached our 133rd year and while we all have many fond memories to look back on, the Club and all of its members are keeping a close and keen eye on the future. As a family oriented organisation we recognise that the future lies in the hands of the future generations who we know for certain will grow to love the game we love today.

So, if you are already a golfer looking for a new family friendly golf club, a past golfer thinking about restarting, or if you have never played before why not give golf a try. Come and join us – you and your family are welcome here at Kinghorn Golf Club

KINGHORN LIBRARY

Kinghorn Library is run and managed entirely by volunteers and aims to engage the community with all things relating to books, reading and the arts. Lending services are supplemented by a rich timetable of events including talks, workshops and visits.

We opened to borrowers in September 2017 after Fife Council withdrew support to its own library service, and since then we have enjoyed fantastic support from the community. Our team of volunteers is the bedrock of our existence and we always welcome new members – behind the scenes as well as at the desk. It's a great way to connect with other book-lovers and meet new people.

Library visitor numbers continue to grow as we increase our reach and our services. We now have free IT provision for registered users and we try to keep our book stock fresh with purchases often relating to events we run – for example Women's Prize for Fiction and National Poetry Day – or author visits (we have hosted Jill Calder, Morag Hood and A.L. Kennedy since opening!) We have great links with local schools and run Bookbug sessions for our youngest visitors. Everyone, of any age, is welcome.

To register as a Library user call into the Library with proof of address. Junior users require parental permission. If you're interested in volunteering email us! ■

We have annual outings to tourist attractions such as the Kelpies and other places of interest; as well as holding intergenerational events such as working with the local primary school to provide entertainment during the year. We are closed 4 weeks of the year – in summer and over the festive period.

If you are over 65, live in Kinghorn, looking for company and a spot of lunch, please contact Kinghorn Community Centre and we will be in touch. We often have a waiting list as there is a limit to the number of members we can accommodate in the hall. ■

KINGHORN PARISH CHURCH OF SCOTLAND

Our mission is to share the good news of Jesus Christ through enthusiastic worship, witnessing, nurturing and serving in our community and beyond.

With the Kirk by the Sea, the Church in the High Street and the Faith, Hope and Charity Shop we have been at the heart of Kinghorn for over 800 years. We aim to serve all and love all at all times whether in the joy of childbirth, the sorrow of death or the anticipation of marriage.

We provide a place of safety and spirituality for the seeker and sinner alike. We respect the local, value the national and are enriched by the international range and diversity of the Christian faith.

Each week there are a variety of meeting points for friendship and deepening faith or searching for truth. Our premises are widely used by community groups. Kinghorn Church is old, going back to Celtic times; it is young, hosting a monthly Messy Church; it is traditional, rejoicing with Hymns and Psalms; yet modern in style with songs of praise from the world church. It has been a homely fellowship for those who've lived here a lifetime and provides a welcome for newcomers too.

Come and see for yourself and make your mind up if we're ordinary local folks who believe Jesus still has the power to change lives. Sunday mornings at 10.30AM. During lockdown we have been meeting online. ■

KINGHORN PRIMARY SCHOOL & NURSERY

Kinghorn Primary School & Nursery has the privilege of serving the youngsters and families of Kinghorn. Children enjoy rich learning experiences within our vibrant, Gold Rights respecting learning community where we are all 'Sailing To Success'.

Kinghorn Primary School was opened in 1986 in our current building, housing nine class areas, hall and nursery, with a generous playground, school field and conservation area.

As a Gold Rights respecting school, we endorse the rights in the United Nations convention on the Rights of the Child, and thrive on creating kind, respectful, generous, honest pupils in an inclusive, nurturing and open environment. Mistakes are encouraged – seen as learning opportunities where we never give up on what we face day-to-day, supported by caring, experienced, skilled staff and an active Parent Council.

We build positive relationships between home and school. Working in partnership we can make your child's experience one full of achievement and enjoyment.

Volunteers and visitors play an important part of school life and our doors are open for all who wish to be part of our Kinghorn learning family to ensure we are fully involved in the Kinghorn Community.

To become part of our Kinghorn learning family contact us at the school – we look forward to welcoming you! ■

KINGHORN RADIO SAILING CLUB

Kinghorn Radio Sailing Club (KRSC) aims to positively promote the sport of Radio Sailing.

We are a relatively new club having been formed in 2014 by three former yacht and clings sailors who were travelling outwith Fife in pursuit of their sport. Radio Sailing is a smaller version of large yacht sailing but from the shore using a handheld radio transmitter to adjust the sails and rudder – these function exactly as on large yachts.

The yachts we sail are International One Metre (IOM) and as the name suggest they are sailed worldwide in racing competitions from club sailing (Kinghorn Loch) through Scottish District, UK and European competitions, to World Championships. This sport is full-on yacht racing, even at Kinghorn Loch, where between six to a dozen skippers on Wednesdays and Saturdays sail regularly throughout the year in friendly rivalry, usually a series of ten races.

Come and speak with us on Wednesday or Saturday at Kinghorn Loch. Tell us you are coming and a yacht will be available. ■

KINGHORN SAILING CLUB

Kinghorn Sailing Club aims to encourage the enjoyment of sailing and boats in the company of others and doing so in a safe and responsible manner.

We are based at Kinghorn beach where we have our clubhouse. It consists of a large meeting room with attached kitchen area, male & female changing rooms with attached toilets and showers. Below the clubhouse is an area for storing kit and boat bits. Behind the clubhouse is a large shed, originally the first RNLI lifeboat shed, which is used for storing the club rescue boat.

The club boats – both those belonging to the club and those of the members – are stored at the harbour on the area known as the tank top. The nature of the harbour means that we are limited to dinghies which are stored out of the water when not in use. The club has two Stratos dinghies, large boats that can take three or four people, two Pico and two Toppers, smaller boats for single handed sailing. While primarily intended for training they are available for club members to use.

Formal club sailing takes place on a Sunday from about 11AM onwards. In the winter, we move some boats to the loch where we have a basic changing space available.

Anybody who is interested in sailing is welcome to come along and introduce themselves. Please e-mail ahead to let us know you are coming. Weather permitting, we shall try and get you into a boat. It should be noted that dinghy sailing does require a reasonable degree of fitness and agility. ■

KINGHORN STATION GALLERY

The gallery is open to visitors on Saturdays throughout the year. It aims to provide a space for art in Kinghorn and is run by artists, Lynette and Douglas Gray

The former stationmaster's house was adopted by us as part of ScotRail's Adopt a Station Scheme. We converted the upper floor into our studios. In what used to be the ladies waiting room, on the ground floor, is the gallery. It is mainly for displaying our work of paintings, prints and ceramics but we often show invited artists. Sometimes the gallery becomes a meeting space or classroom.

The gallery opened to the public in November 2011 after taking two years to renovate and decorate. We also adopted the station's gardens at Kinghorn and try to make them an attractive feature for visitors and locals. The studios can be seen on open days or by appointment.

Please pop in. The gallery is open from 10–4PM on Saturdays. Entry is free. Disabled access is via the platform. ■

KINGHORN SUPPORT SQUAD (KISS)

"Oh, I didn't know – if only you had asked me I would have given you a hand!" How often have we heard these words? Well, in Kinghorn we have a way around that problem.

Many people don't want to be on a committee but are keen to lend a hand, if and when they can; just to dip in, help out, then walk away. So, how did we get the best of both worlds? We formed the Kinghorn Support Squad (KISS).

Lots of people have signed up to help out when they can and support the many volunteering groups we have in Kinghorn. Supporters can choose to help in a variety of ways such as setting up and taking down events; clean up team; admin and technical support; baking; distributing leaflets; 4x4 vehicles; art, craft and publicity; and many more skills of their choosing. If the supporter can't make it then that's fine, there will be other occasions when they may be able to help.

Volunteering has a real and positive affect on people and the supporters say they have had a great time, regardless of what they were doing. The Support Squad members make a difference.

If you would like to support our volunteering groups, please contact us by e-mailing ksskinghorn@gmail.com or visit our Facebook page. ■

KINGHORN TENNIS

At Kinghorn Tennis Club we pride ourselves on providing a safe and inclusive environment where children and adults of all ages and abilities can enjoy learning and playing both social and competitive tennis.

We provide a year-round programme of social and competition tennis for all ages. We play social tennis on a Tuesday and Thursday evening, as well as on a Sunday morning. In addition we offer an extensive programme of junior and senior singles, doubles and mixed doubles tournaments throughout the year, as well as participating in various inter-club leagues and friendly matches.

We are an LTA registered venue and have our own LTA accredited tennis coach, who runs year-round coaching programmes for juniors and adults alike, as well as offering one-to-one tuition. We have two hard-surfaced courts which are ideal for social tennis and which are maintained to a very high standard.

If you'd like to find out more, feel free to pop down to the courts on a Sunday morning from 10AM – we always have members of the committee on hand who'll be pleased to show you around and explain what we have to offer in more detail. Alternatively, just email us and we'll get back to you. ■

KINGHORN WALKING GROUP

Our aim is to improve the health and well-being of participants through fitness and social interaction by having a good time on a good walk! We enable participants to discover more about nature, the surrounding environment and heritage.

The Walking Group has been in existence for over eight years and has grown steadily in size and popularity. As well as a way of keeping fit, our walks allow people to discover the local area in pleasant company. The group meets all year round to experience nature in all seasons. We meet on the first Wednesday of each month at 10AM at the entrance to Craigencalt Farm Road. Walks last up to two hours and are often followed by a tea break and chat.

Each spring the group hosts a local walking festival over a two week period. There are a variety of walks on offer of varying length and interest. It aims to include something for everyone with some family walks too. The walking festival is a free event and has grown in popularity since it first began in 2013.

Enjoy a walk in the beautiful area surrounding Kinghorn, and take in the scenic views of the Forth and inland countryside. ■

KIRKCALDY CANOE CLUB

Kirkcaldy Canoe Club, based at Kinghorn Loch, is one of Scotland's leading sprint and marathon kayak clubs. We are an active club regularly competing at events across Scotland and the UK. Our focus is to introduce and develop junior paddlers.

The club welcomes new members of all ages (8+) to come along and try kayaking. We have a fleet of beginner's boats, buoyancy aids and paddles. All you need is sports wear and a pair of old trainers. We also welcome coaches who wish to pass on their knowledge and experience in core kayaking skills.

Many of our members throughout the club's history have come from Kinghorn and the club has been a key part of growing up in the Kinghorn area.

Our members have achieved great success at national and international competitions, with paddlers racing for Team GB. Many of the events we attend are suitable for less experienced paddlers and provide the opportunity to paddle in some spectacular settings.

We train at Kinghorn Loch on Tuesday and Thursday evenings between April and October at 6.30PM. ■

PETTYCUR BAY HOLIDAY PARK & THE BAY HOTEL

Owned and run for over 30 years by the Wallace family and open to everyone, not just park residents, Pettycur Bay Holiday Park & The Bay Hotel strives to provide excellence in the quality of accommodation on its holiday park and in its hotel, across its leisure centre and popular swimming pool, in its family friendly Horizons Restaurant & Waterfront Bar, and in the standard of entertainment shows it offers which regularly rival many large chain holiday parks.

We employ numerous local people, many of whom have been with us for years. We host many local weddings and events in our function suites, and regularly engage with local businesses and organisations, such as NHS Fife, who use the 4 star Bay Hotel – the only 4 star hotel in the area – for meetings and conferences. We're a champion for local food & drink suppliers in our restaurant, having been recognised with a Visit Scotland Taste our Best award. Frequent refurbishments across the business have seen us engage local tradesmen and suppliers, to whom we demonstrate continuing loyalty. Most importantly for the local economy, we attract many thousands of holidaymakers and day visitors to this area every year, most of whom will support local Kinghorn businesses during their stays. As we also sell holiday homes, the owners will return time and time again. It's very important to us to be a fitting advertisement for Fife tourism. In terms of local community involvement, this is at the very heart of the business, with us having given consistent and continuing support to organisations within Kinghorn – the Bowling Club, the Golf Course, the local Church, and the RNLI and its Support Squad, with our director Steven Wallace a member of the team.

Our swimming pool, Horizons Restaurant, and leisure facilities including children's Soft Play Area are open to everyone, and we love to see local Kinghorn residents making use of them. If you're new to the area we hope you will come in to say hello. Everyone is welcome at our Annual May Holiday Home showcase which lays on free food and entertainment for all local families. We're also keen to hear about new local suppliers in food & drink. ■

RNLI KINGHORN LIFEBOAT STATION

RNLI Kinghorn Lifeboat Station is located within the beautiful harbour of Kinghorn beach, where it houses a RNLI Atlantic 85 inshore lifeboat. The lifeboat provides 24/7 cover to the south Fife, Edinburgh and East Lothian coastlines.

We have been here for more than 50 years and are one of Scotland's busiest RNLI stations. Run by volunteers, the station plays an active part in the community boosted by a strong focus on fundraising which contributes to both the operation and running of our lifeboat and the RNLI charity as a whole.

Both our sea-going and shore-side operational crew train weekly and you will regularly see the lifeboat and tractor out at the beach. Add to that our community safety projects which require Education Volunteers to visit schools, clubs and organisations in a bid to educate the wider community.

To find out more about the varied volunteer roles that make Kinghorn RNLI such a vibrant, exciting and worthwhile team to be part of, please send us an email at kinghorn@rnli.org.uk or fundraisers@kinghorn.org.uk, or pop down for a chat on a Monday evening.

Royal National Lifeboat Institution (RNLI) is a charity registered in Scotland (SC037736), England & Wales (209603), and the Republic of Ireland (20003326).

Would you like to help save lives at sea? We have roles for operational, fundraising, education, and support. ■

ROTARY CLUB OF BURNTISLAND & KINGHORN

Burntisland and Kinghorn Rotary club is a group of motivated men and women who meet on a Tuesday evening in the Sands Hotel, Burntisland. Members volunteer, and are keen to utilise their skills and resources to help others.

Some of the activities we are involved in are: supporting community events; running educational programmes; helping out at local activities such as the Black Rock Race; beach clean-ups; Santa's sleigh; and attending the Remembrance Day parade.

Because of Rotary's vast international geographical spread, we are in the unique position of being able to reach people in need all over the world – from running life-changing projects in developing countries, to making immediate response to disaster hit regions. One of Rotary's top priorities is the eradication of polio.

The club organises an annual Burns speech competition and a primary school quiz liaising with local primary school children and staff in the Kinghorn, Auchtertool and Burntisland area. We also promote a very successful RotaKids programme in Burntisland Primary school.

Rotary Rambles is an award winning activity set up by our members to assist school teachers in both Burntisland and Kinghorn primary schools, enabling them to take their classes on an agreed walking route exploring the natural surroundings within the area by using maps and compasses. This activity – with the help of several Rotarians – has proved to be a great success.

The club raises funds for charity by holding coffee mornings, charity shops, large concerts, casino nights, race nights and other fundraising activities. These funds are used to help local groups and charities, and also help with international disasters.

The members have a very vibrant social life with outside visits to places of interest, social nights, and Christmas party nights. They also participate in curling events within the area. We would be delighted to welcome men and women who are interested in serving the community and beyond, to a club meeting to find out more of what we do. Please come and join us.

We meet every Tuesday at 6.30PM in the Sands hotel, Lochie Road, Burntisland. More information can be found by visiting our website and Facebook page where a contact number for the secretary can be found or by contacting a local Rotarian. ■

ROYAL BURGH OF KINGHORN COMMUNITY COUNCIL

Community Councils have no authority and no money but what they do have though is the ability to persuade, cajole, embarrass(!) and encourage.

Created by local government reform in 1975, RBKCC has – time and again – worked hard to successfully encourage and support the many volunteering groups and clubs which make Kinghorn more than just another place to park your car and sleep. RBKCC takes an active pride in Kinghorn's historical heritage, its community safety and its civic pride. Community Councillors are volunteers who must live in the area they represent and are elected to serve for a term of four years. This local knowledge, combined with boundless enthusiasm, can make the Community Council a force to be reckoned with as it uses its credibility and tenacity to represent the views and interests of our community to Fife Council and beyond. Whilst it is the bottom tier of our democracy, it is also the front line. It is positively engaged with this community and it fights hard to represent the views and opinions of the people of Kinghorn.

RBKCC administers the Emergency Resilience Plan for Kinghorn, so key messages are passed on through the village's noticeboards, e-mails and on Facebook.

RBKCC meets on the second Thursday of the month, excluding July, in the Community Centre, with the two hour meetings beginning at 7PM. They are anything but boring! ■

SWI: KINGHORN AND DISTRICT

SWI (Scottish Women's Institute) is a non-political, non-sectarian Organisation, which is committed to meeting the social, educational and recreational needs of women of all ages and ability, with no set upper or lower age limit.

There has been a 'rural' in Kinghorn for the last 65 years – we meet on the third Thursday of each month, September to June in the small hall of the Church in the High Street at 7PM. We have a variety of speakers and demonstrators with some 'hands on' evenings. We have lots of chat, competitions, learning from each other and of course a cuppa to round off the evening. Being part of a larger organisation, we take part in joint meetings and group competitions, and have been involved in sporting, drama and musical events. Our craft class has been re-established this year, meeting on a Thursday afternoon every two weeks.

Come along and give us a try – we will welcome you. We have been meeting online during lockdown. ■

TWO SKIES

People ask "who is Two Skies?" - is he some Indian chief sitting meditating on top of the hill at Craigencalt? Two Skies is an ethical gemstone jewellery company specialising in Scottish gems - which we mine ourselves and create into unique jewellery.

Two Skies took over Craigencalt farm in 2019. We have residents living in the farmhouse and a community of tenants in the barns including a carpenter, mechanic, florist, an osteopath and a clothes designer.

Our land by the loch-side is used by many groups including the Kirkcaldy Canoe Club, the Radio Sailing Club and for carp fishing. You can also learn to paddle-board.

You can explore this beautiful area through the network of paths, some of which are created by the Craigencalt Trust, get an allotment or just pop into the café.

There are always opportunities to get involved in the ever-expanding Craigencalt community so please feel free to drop us a 'hello' email.
